

Steven & Peggy Beverly

Missionaries to Sri Lanka

Project #42.10004

Ministry Focus

- Teaching and training Sri Lankan pastors and leaders.
- Developing a strong, self-sustaining, and multiplying church.

Steven and Peggy Beverly both grew up in Kansas City, Kansas. They lived around the corner from each other and even rode the school bus together. Steven's father, Sethard Beverly, pastored Third Street Church of God, and Peggy's father was a construction entrepreneur. Neither Steven nor Peggy knew that God would bring their paths together after thirty years.

Steven graduated from Anderson University and, after teaching journalism in the Cayman Islands, became the associate editor of Vital Christianity magazine. Steven later became editor of ONEvoice! magazine and then a journalism instructor at Ball State University before becoming the marketing manager at a museum.

After studying at Emporia State University in Kansas, Peggy attended Rhema Bible Training College, where she felt a call to missions. With the support of her family, Peggy's call to missions took her on multiple trips to Nigeria, Uganda, Kenya, Nepal, Thailand, and Israel. After moving to Anderson, she became the itineration specialist for Global Missions (now Global Strategy).

Steven's and Peggy's paths crossed again in 2006 during the North American Convention and they married in 2007. Both have a heart for missions and desire to fulfill God's call on their lives. They served together on short-term assignments in Catadupa, Jamaica, and in Poza Rica, Mexico, while making plans to pursue a missionary assignment with Global Strategy.

After much prayer and seeking God's direction, Steven and Peggy felt God's call to serve in Sri Lanka. They are working with national leaders to build a healthy, growing national church and to strengthen and support local churches as they spread the gospel in communities that are often hostile to Christianity.

To support the ministry of Steven and Peggy in Sri Lanka, visit <https://chogglobal.org/SPBeverly> or call Global Strategy at 800-848-2464.

Steven & Peggy Beverly

Missionaries to Sri Lanka

Project #42.10004

Ministry Focus

- Teaching and training Sri Lankan pastors and leaders.
- Developing a strong, self-sustaining, and multiplying church.

Steven and Peggy Beverly both grew up in Kansas City, Kansas. They lived around the corner from each other and even rode the school bus together. Steven's father, Sethard Beverly, pastored Third Street Church of God, and Peggy's father was a construction entrepreneur. Neither Steven nor Peggy knew that God would bring their paths together after thirty years.

Steven graduated from Anderson University and, after teaching journalism in the Cayman Islands, became the associate editor of Vital Christianity magazine. Steven later became editor of ONEvoice! magazine and then a journalism instructor at Ball State University before becoming the marketing manager at a museum.

After studying at Emporia State University in Kansas, Peggy attended Rhema Bible Training College, where she felt a call to missions. With the support of her family, Peggy's call to missions took her on multiple trips to Nigeria, Uganda, Kenya, Nepal, Thailand, and Israel. After moving to Anderson, she became the itineration specialist for Global Missions (now Global Strategy).

Steven's and Peggy's paths crossed again in 2006 during the North American Convention and they married in 2007. Both have a heart for missions and desire to fulfill God's call on their lives. They served together on short-term assignments in Catadupa, Jamaica, and in Poza Rica, Mexico, while making plans to pursue a missionary assignment with Global Strategy.

After much prayer and seeking God's direction, Steven and Peggy felt God's call to serve in Sri Lanka. They are working with national leaders to build a healthy, growing national church and to strengthen and support local churches as they spread the gospel in communities that are often hostile to Christianity.

To support the ministry of Steven and Peggy in Sri Lanka, visit <https://chogglobal.org/SPBeverly> or call Global Strategy at 800-848-2464.